Considerable discussion was engendered. Ms. Jackman, Councilor

Councilor Paradis all believed they had contacts particularly in the Irish community. The Chair has contacted the city's Indonesian community in identifying a representative from the Greek community. The Chair encouraged members to seek potential members from among neighbors, particularly given the Commission's demographic needs.

In furthering discussion, the Chair stated that the Mayor was the driving behind the Commission's vision. The Chair reminded members that it

Mayor's original initiative with Quebec City but the Mayor did not want Commission's responsibilities to be narrowly confined or defined by that initiative. In light of the beginning of the Commission's planning, activities to engage in could include Student Exchange Programs, and/or contests.

At least initially, the Chair did not anticipate a lot of written Statements from the Commission (although he did encourage anyone to try to do so) but rather that the Commission become involved in activities that demonstrated its interests.

- V. Brainstorming: Combined with other action or discussion items on the agenda.

VI. Thetford Mines: The Chair introduced this topic by emphasizing its importance given its local ties in Somersworth (Mr. Stephen Renaud, its Superintendent of English-speaking schools, is Ms. Jackman's nephew); the Chair would like to re-establish ties with the Canadian city as part of the Commission's initial planning. Among the possible programs discussed were included athletics, language classes, and cultural exchange activities.

Discussion quickly turned to marketing and publicity. Ms. iterated the need for firm, specific plans for programs. Ms. inquired about publicizing on the Universal Calendar. The that a Universal Calendar is not yet a reality in Somersworth Mayor (and City Council) understand its importance. As of would certainly enter any of the Cultural Commission's

The Chair remarked that it is not necessarily the presence of Commission that is not important, but rather reaching out groups that have been so important in Somersworth's we form partnerships with various artistic or cultural groups interested in space at Hilltop School which does need up public support.

from the February meeting and asked for input for types of programs to support the Franco-Somersworth Alliance. Ideas such as athletics (excepting perhaps hockey), language classes, and cultural exchanges were put forward. As specific projects are identified and decided upon, individual members may be asked by the Chair to assume project management leadership roles.

VIII. Catholic Schools: The Chair announced that he has asked Richard Boulanger to take on a special project researching the history and importance of the French in the Somersworth School system, including but not limited to the Catholic Schools in the city. The Chair confirmed with Mr. Boulanger that he wished to assume this project, to which Mr. Boulanger agreed.

X. Signage: There was a repeat discussion of the February discussion concerning signage. As the seasonal flags would be taken down soon, the Commission has been asked to come up with recommendations. One recommendation involved hanging flags of several important ethnic groups in Somersworth's history (i.e. French, Irish, Greek, Indonesian, and Italian), either all five on all 49 poles, or one flag per group alternating on the 49 poles. Mr. Murray raised the question of expense and re-iterated what had been discussed at the February meeting which would involve approaching various groups in town to fund its ethnic flag. The Chair recommended that the Commission consider this. Further decisions involve when to put the flags up, for how long would they remain, how often they would change, and the cost involved. The Chair stated that he would check with the Mayor and the City Manager.
